

Health & Safety Consultancy

At Business Safety Systems we provide a full range of Health and Safety services including consultancy and advice provided by our professional consultants. All our consultants are members of the Institution of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH) and have experience in a wide range of working environments.

The types of Health and Safety consultancy and advice that we are able to provide for organisations include:

Fulfilling the role of 'Competent Advisor' in order to provide expert advice and support on Health and Safety requirements and other related issues as and when required

Installation of a Health and Safety management system, including advice on implementation, monitoring and other aspects. For more information, ask about our Target 100 system

Completion of a full Health and Safety audit designed to provide a full independent examination of an organisation's systems for Health and Safety management, to highlight relevant areas of strength and weakness. For more information, ask about the Premier Safety Audit

Investigations of accidents and incidents in order to provide an independent assessment of the underlying circumstances and causes

Liaison with enforcing authorities such as the HSE, Local Authorities or Fire Authorities following inspections or investigations

Appraisal and management of contractors, including advice on the adequacy and suitability of pre-tender documentation and systems

Setting up Health and Safety Committees and other methods of communication with employees

Temporary cover for absent Health and Safety officers or other personnel charged with the duty of managing Health and Safety in order to ensure continuity of service

Advice on insurance claims following accidents or reported cases of occupational ill-health

Provision of bespoke solutions to Health and Safety problems requiring specialist knowledge

In any event you can be sure that the consultancy and advice service from Business Safety Systems will be provided by specialist Health and Safety professionals who are working to the highest standards.